

ONE IN, ALL IN

WORLDS without frontiers? Designers without brakes, more like. Why go out with three gadgets when you only need one? Here we have not just a great-looking phone, but an MP3 player, too. "Hey," said a Siemens bloke, "let's stuff a dictaphone in, as well." So they did. $1200 (or plan), call Siemens on 1800 622 414

PAQ LIGHT

BATTLING it out with Palm for the coveted "Most Organised" title comes Compaq, with the iPAQ H3660. Housing smallish versions of Word, Excel, Outlook and Internet Explorer, plus 64MB of memory, the H3660 is as powerful as a gorilla on horse steroids, and will certainly keep your battery charger blistering hot. $1245, call Compaq on 1300 301 234

EXPOSE SECRETS

INVENTED when Daddy was a grizzling war baby, and looking like something to take the end off a monster Havana, the Minox TLX is actually a little titanium box of imaging magic. Using 8x11mm film and a four-element 15mm lens, you can get quality shots of vital WWII documents anytime you need to. $2500, call Ikonstore on (02) 9252 6352

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT

THE key word here is "eventually". This little solar panel has been built to "military standards", which might mean you can take it out for a drink and a fight without causing lasting damage. You can also fix it up somewhere sunny, clip it to some rechargeable batteries and get your bike, car or vibrator going. Eventually. $74.95, call Gowings on 1800 803 304

LOUNGE WEAR

THE take-anywhere virtual lounge room. Plug into VCRs, TVs, DVD players, PCs and games consoles for a mobile large-screen experience. Later versions will include the virtual girlfriend asking if we have to watch this again, and the virtual knock on the door from the virtual neighbour who's locked himself out of his virtual house. Unreal. $2699, call Mindflux on (02) 9416 9619
